SIMPLIFYING GDPR COMPLIANCE

with Responsiv Cloud Data Compliance Service

The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) protects the personal data of EU and UK citizens. It outlines how personal data can be collected and processed, limits usage, and protects the rights of individuals to information about and the deletion of their data.

Organisations operating in the EU and UK must comply with GDPR.

Step 1: Understanding your Data.

Understanding what data you store and where is the first step in complying with GDPR; is it protected, who is accessing it, how is it being used, is it where you would expect it to be?

Responsiv Cloud Data Compliance Service (RCDCS) discovers your databases and data, allowing you to identify and protect any personal and sensitive data across your environments. RCDCS also allows you to monitor your data access and usage, setting policies to terminate access, redact information, log activity and commands, and more, to ensure you get a complete picture of who and how your data is being used.

Set recurring discover and classify scans to ensure you are always aware of your sensitive data for ongoing compliance.

Step 2: Automating for GDPR Compliance.

RCDCS has pre-defined and pre-configured policies for GDPR compliance; automatically report, respond, and alert the regulator, response teams, and affected users in line with regulatory requirements. These policies and alerts can be further customised to fit your exact needs.

As a managed cloud service, we simplify your GDPR compliance by removing the need for in-house management of your compliance solution. Our teams manage the platform, policies, reports, and alerts on your behalf, sending your service desk or SOC alerts based on your need-to-know criteria.

Automatic reporting means data is compiled, documented, and distributed according to your policy without the need for human intervention.
